

The Little Workshop

Little Courses

Fancy a day in the Little Workshop?

Care about your skin? Like all things natural and wholesome? Then why not come and spend a day in our Workshop and learn how to make your own soap or creams and lotions! Meet the dogs who inspired our pet shampoo bar and the chickens who sing away as we mix the oils!

Nestling in the foothills of the North Cotswold hills, the Little Workshop is conveniently situated behind our 16th century cottage which sits in the idyllic old village square of Bretforton, in South Worcestershire, several paces from the historic

National Trust's Fleece Inn (pictured), where we break for a well deserved lunch mid way through! Our workshops are on days to suit you (either one to one or bring a friend/s for a different day out!).

We can collect you from the station (mainline to London Paddington) which is 5mins away or there is plenty of parking if you come by car.

We begin with breakfast on arrival, and lunch at The Fleece then afternoon tea and cakes before you leave - oh and we teach you how to make your own soaps and leave you to run riot in the workshop inbetween!

We have courses (one to one or small groups) on:

- Cold Processed Soap Making
- Making Lotions, Creams and Balms
- How to set up your own toiletries business

All details are online or pick up the phone for more info...
